Oogie Boogie takes on the Disneyland[®] Resort

“Bug out” with the master of mayhem and celebrate the season of tricks and treats at the Disneyland[®] Resort from September 15 to October 31.⁴

As Halloween creeps closer at the Disneyland[®] Resort, there’s a new baddie taking over Disney California Adventure[®] Park. It’s Oogie Boogie from Tim Burton’s The Nightmare Before Christmas. The slithery bag of badness has commandeered the entrance to the Park, where a 30-foot-tall moon hovers above and bats fly from the branches of an enormous Oogie-Boogie-shaped tree whose twisted tendrils crawl over the turnstiles.

Stroll along Buena Vista Street, taking in the themed Halloween window displays as Halloween music weaves a mysterious spell around you. At Carthay Circle Theatre, trees are illuminated with an eerie orange glow near the fountain, which bubbles green water.

A word of caution—watch out for a huge statue of the Headless Horseman, with a steam-snorting horse and blazing pumpkin head in front of Elias & Company. But don’t let him deter you from shopping in the store and using your savings of 10% off select merchandise purchases of $50 or more.⁵

“We wanted to provide Guests a unique Halloween experience that’s different than anything we’ve done in the past.”

— David Caranci, Manager, Creative Development, Disneyland[®] Resort

At Cars Land, Walt Disney Imagineers have obviously had way too much fun helping Lightning McQueen, Mater and their pals prepare for the holiday. “The entire Radiator Springs gang has decorated their own area for Halloween using the automotive gadgets they have around—just like they do for Christmas,” says Charlie Kowalski, Art Director, Disneyland[®] Resort. Giant spiderwebs made of chain are infested by spiders created from hubcaps.

Mater has dressed up as a vampire and turned Mater’s Junkyard Jamboree into Mater’s Car Graveyard Jam-Boo-Ree. At the Cozy Cone, the big orange traffic cones have been transformed into Jack-a-Cones. Lizzie, self-proclaimed scary witch of Cars Land, can be found stirring up a “ghoul-ant” brew to bring cars to life. It seems to be working as a 1930s roadster buried in Lizzy’s yard rises from the ground, with radio blaring and lights flashing. “We call it a ‘Zoom-bie’ mobile,” jokes David Caranci, Manager, Creative Development, Disneyland[®] Resort.

Even Cadillac Range has changed colors, going from red and gold to purple and green. “The entire land will have a different feel,” Caranci says. “It’s very unique and immersive.”

Oogie Boogie also makes his dastardly appearance at Disneyland[®] Park, and this time he’s fiendish with food. This year, the famous gingerbread house in Haunted Mansion Holiday features a 7-foot-tall cookie in the shape of Oogie Boogie peering into a gingerbread house crawling with giant gummy worms, spiders, scorpions and bugs. Want to add some “eww” factor to your own Halloween décor? Check out the 18-inch-tall version of the gingerbread house. It comes pre-constructed so all you have to do is have fun decorating it! Use your Disney Visa Card to get 10% off select merchandise purchases of $50 or more at select locations.⁵ “Oogie Boogie is so much fun to work with—he’s just so delightfully ‘icky,’” says Karlos Siqueiros, Manager, Food & Beverage, Disneyland[®] Resort.

Look for new Halloween pins featuring some of your favorite Characters, as well as Tim Burton’s The Nightmare Before Christmas. “We have a great selection of new Halloween items including apparel, headwear, plush, seasonal and home décor items, pins and more. There’s something for the entire family,” says Michelle Harker, Manager, Merchandise, Disneyland[®] Resort.

Redeem your Disney Rewards Dollars toward Park tickets and prepare to have the merriest, scariest time ever.³ Oogie can’t wait to scare you!

Ghoulish Fun for Everyone

HAUNTED MANSION HOLIDAY

Jack Skellington and his crew are dying to have you join them and share the “spirit” of the season at Disneyland[®] Park.

GHOST GALAXY AT SPACE MOUNTAIN

Hang onto your seat as intergalactic specters chase you on a whirling ride through space at Disneyland[®] Park.

CARS LAND

Cars Land will get all gussied up with four-wheeled frights as the citizens of Radiator Springs don their Halloween costumes and get in gear for the holiday.

Disney Villains Make the Scene

Meet some of your favorite baddies at Mickey's Not-So-Scary Halloween Party at Magic Kingdom® Park at Walt Disney World® Resort select evenings from August 25 to November 1.⁴

SPELLBINDING ENTERTAINMENT

During Mickey's Not-So-Scary Halloween Party, the Disney Villains come out to play! "Halloween is their favorite time of year," says Denise Case, Show Creative Director. "So naturally, they want to be part of the celebration." Look for them in Mickey's "Boo-to-You" Halloween Parade which includes over 120 performers and Characters, including 11 who can only be seen this time of year in the parade.

If you love to experience the Characters up close and personal (and who doesn't?), the Party is the perfect time to trade hugs (if you dare) with Lots-O'-Huggin' Bear, Cruella de Vil, Jafar, Gaston and more.

Take time from trick-or-treating to catch the Hocus Pocus Villain Spelltacular shown several times nightly during the Party. The 20-minute musical show stars the three bewitching Sanderson sisters, brewing a cauldron of spells and inviting Dr. Facilier, Oogie Boogie, Maleficent, Jafar and other Villains to come by for some mischief making. "It's a fantastic show," says Gene Harding, Producer. "Hocus Pocus is one of Disney's most popular Halloween films, and our show has been a huge hit with Guests."

Harding also suggests dropping by the Rocket Tower Plaza Stage in Tomorrowland for the "Monstrous Scream-O-Ween Ball" where the Characters from Disney•Pixar's Monsters, Inc. mingle and rock out with kids and families.

FIREWORKS, TRICKS AND TREATS

And what would a celebration be without fiendish fireworks? The Ghost Host from the Haunted Mansion invites you to drop in as the Happy HalloWishes fireworks spectacular lights up the night with creepy colors and tunes crooned by some of your favorite Villains.

In between all the Villain's hijinks, you and your tricksters will want to follow the trick-or-treat trails to several locations where Cast Members fill bags with goodies, including allergy-friendly treats. Ready for chills and thrills? Visit DisneyWorld.com/Halloween for more information.

Bring home Halloween merchandise even a Villain would love! Use your Cardmember savings of 10% off select merchandise purchases of $50 or more at select locations at Walt Disney World® Resort.⁵

35 Years of Wonder

4 fun facts about Epcot®.

This year, Epcot® celebrates 35 years of bringing learning, laughter and discovery to Guests. (Where did the time go?) When the Walt Disney Imagineers first began thinking about Epcot®, they wanted to create a place that embodied Walt Disney's belief that science and technology would make the future brighter. It took 19 major revisions prior to opening day on October 1, 1982 to capture Walt Disney's vision, but when Epcot® was completed, it became the most unique Theme Park in the world.

1 ACRES OF DISCOVERIES

Epcot® covers 305 acres and is divided into two major sections: Future World and World Showcase. "Future World in Epcot® celebrates the technology and innovations that make the world a better place," says Gary Lundrum, Senior Show Awareness Producer, Walt Disney Imagineering. "World Showcase brings to life Walt's belief that our cultural differences enrich us, while the things we have in common connect us."

2 HOSTING THE WORLD

When designing The American Adventure, the host nation of World Showcase, Walt Disney Imagineers were inspired by colonial American architecture from a definitive time in American history. Inside, a multi-media theatrical experience takes Guests through key historical moments utilizing audio-animatronic® figures and a projection screen 28-foot-tall by 155-foot-wide, which is the largest ever built.

3 ICONIC LANDMARK

SpaceShip Earth, which houses an attraction about the history of human communication, is 180-foot-tall and is covered with 11,324 individual, custom-fitted alucobond tiles. Inside, the hidden network of backstage corridors for maintenance workers is so complex, they sometimes draw pencil lines on the walls to find their way back from where they came.

4 OCEAN ADVENTURE

The Living Seas debuted in 1986 featuring a 5.7 million gallon aquarium that is home to over 2,000 sea creatures and 65 different aquatic species. Guests can talk directly to one of them in "Turtle Talk with Crush," an interactive live chat that debuted in 2004 featuring the little surfer dude from Disney•Pixar's hit film, Finding Nemo.

Indulge Your Sweet Tooth

Treat yourself at the 22nd Annual Epcot® International Food & Wine Festival.

Pack your appetite and dive in to the 22nd Annual Epcot® International Food & Wine Festival from August 31 through November 13. Delight in the aromas and tastes of authentic food and beverages from around the world and enjoy culinary and mixology demonstrations, as well as special parties and events.

As you taste your way around the world, be sure to save room for everyone's favorite menu item—dessert. "I love working with our talented team of pastry chefs to develop desserts," says Culinary Director Gregg Hannon, Walt Disney World® Resort. "It's intriguing to find ways to incorporate authentic flavors from each country. For instance, this year we're offering an olive oil cake served with lemon curd and powdered sugar at the Spain kiosk. It's amazingly rich and light."

"It's all about collaborating and experimenting," Hannon says. "We're always looking for new ways to prepare and serve food for our Guests." A liquid nitrogen chocolate almond truffle (shown above) served at The Chocolate Studio in Future World at Epcot® is a delicious example. Fluffy chocolate mousse is scooped into liquid nitrogen so it freezes on the outside but leaves the inside soft and creamy. It's served with a warm whiskey caramel sauce and almond powder. Yum!

And that's just a taste of the sweet surprises in store. Take a look at our list of "Desserts Around the World" and plan your sweet tooth's travels accordingly. When you need to take a break from all the savoring, do a little shopping to bring home a taste of the festival to your own kitchen. Head to the Festival Center where you can redeem your Disney Rewards Dollars toward your purchase of special cooking gear, the Epcot® International Food & Wine Festival Cookbook and a selection of coffee and other goodies.³
